

BUSHCRAFT BUCKET LIST

155 SKILLS YOU SHOULD KNOW

by Carsten Bothe

CONTENT:

In this new bucket list, hunter, biologist, outdoor enthusiast and former trapper Carsten Bothe presents 155 skills that a true bushcrafter and wilderness lover should know or at least have tried once.

The various tasks are structured in chapters focussing on equipment, skills, carving, recipes and monthly tasks (each with an overnight stay!) and sorted according to importance. So the reader can expect some profound knowledge to be imparted here, sometimes a bit quirky, but never boring, with lasting memories guaranteed. Because bushcraft is more than just a hobby, it is excitement and relaxation in equal measure, office escape, trapper romance, crafts, nature knowledge and much more.

The author: Carsten Bothe's CV hardly seems to fit into one life: First a hunting licence, A-levels, then two years of officer training, biology studies, hunting, lecture and research trips to Canada, America and New Zealand. With almost 30 books to his name and more than 300,000 copies sold, he is one of the most widely read contemporary German outdoor writers.
